

Sayyid Ammar recalls Twentieth Revolution's icons, leaders' sacrifices, describes it Genuine Iraqi Revolution

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, recalled the sacrifices of the icons and tribes of the epic of the Great Twentieth Revolution. His Eminence tweeted on Wednesday, June 30, 2021, the 101st anniversary of the Twentieth Revolution, "In its eternal memory, we cannot but recall the sacrifices of the heroes, icons, and tribes of the epic of the Twentieth Revolution, The great ones who sacrificed their lives and joy so that Iraq would be the dearest, proud, independent and sovereign." Noting that this luminous national stand was a genuine Iraqi revolution far from any foreign agendas, led by the religious authority to achieve a lofty goal that until this day, we shade by its pride and honor. H.E. stressed that the ferocity and loftiness of the ancestors is a well that inspires our spirit of determination to work hard for the call of national duty that we must bear and hold the flag until we reach the next generation and hand it over for them with heads held high and the proudest of spirits.
