

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem thanks IHEC & security services on special voting success

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, thanked the Independent High Electoral Commission's (IHEC) and the security service on the success of the special voting and asking them to maintain the efforts to make the public voting a success next Sunday, and his Eminence tweeted on Friday, October 8, 2021 "Our deep gratitude and appreciation for the Independent High Electoral Commission on their exceptional efforts for the success of the special voting today."

His Eminence thanked the UNAMI and the international monitors from the European Union, the Arab League, and the rest of the monitoring organizations for this grand national right. Moreover, H.E. encouraged them to continue and complete their activities in the general voting, and also thanked our security services, who participated effectively in the special voting, and the security forces who contributed greatly in accomplishing the first part of the elections missions and call upon them to go the extra mile and prepare the necessary arrangements to overcome the procedural mishap that happened today.
