

Sayyid Al-Hakeem to keep Iraq security away from political strife with National Security Adviser

Sayyid Al-Hakeem, head of Al-Hikma National Movement, met the Iraqi National Security Adviser, Qassim Al-Araji, on Sunday 27/3/2022, and discussed the preservation of Iraqi security away from political strife, and the preservation of the security achievement that was achieved with the blood and sacrifices of the martyrs.

His Eminence stressed that the terrorist threat is no longer a military threat. But a security threat that needs a security treatment in line with the nature of that threat, calling for providing job opportunities as a prelude to achieving sustainable security, and drawing on similar experiences, pointing out the importance of coordinating positions regionally and internationally, since terrorism is a cross-border threat.
