

Sayyid Al-Hakeem calls on political powers to agree on a clear government program

Sayyid Al-Hakeem, head of Al-Hikma National Movement, today, 3/28/2022, said that the political impasse in Iraq will negatively affect the citizen, starting with the government's inability to present the budget law, calling on the loyal political powers to intensify their meetings to agree on a government program that has clear outlines, formulating the priorities for the next stage, and how to address major crises, especially economic, social and environmental issues, and freezing the current disputes, adding that the freeze "is waiting until the production of a national government program that participation in the next government will be based upon, with our emphasis on non-participation in it."
