

Sayyid Al-Hakeem blesses the new school year, stresses school-family integration to build the next generation

At the beginning of the new school year and during his visit to several Baghdad schools on 12/10/2022, Sayyid Al-Hakeem, head of Al-Hikma National Movement, congratulated the students and the education faculty on the start of the new year and attendance after the crisis of the Corona epidemic. H.E. also blessed everyone with the anniversary of the Prophet's birth, indicating that science and knowledge are the characteristics of our Islamic religion.

His Eminence pointed out the importance of the school as an institution in which cultures fuse to produce a unified educational culture, indicating the importance of integration between the school and the family as they are two pillars for shaping the student's personality, as healthy societies need a healthy family and a sound school, and the student is their mutual ambassador. His Eminence illustrated the importance of the school curricula and their role in introducing the past and foreseeing the future, stressing that a successful educational environment requires proper learning and thinking, harmonizing theoretical and practical studies, developing skills and capabilities, deepening patriotism, community service, and teamwork, and consolidating democracy as a culture for the student and introducing him to his rights and duties.

His Eminence said, "The success of the school is measured by its ability to teach and train students to face life's challenges and tests," praising the educational institution's role and effort in educating and creating the new generation.
