Sayyid Al-Hakeem Meets Hoor Rajab Leaders, Calls to Preserve Achievements, Strengthen Stability Through Investment, Conscious Electoral Participation

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers Alliance, met on Sunday evening, October 5, 2025, at his office in Baghdad, with a group of tribal elders and dignitaries from Hoor Rajab.

His Eminence reviewed the challenges Iraq has faced in recent years, including those stemming from the latest regional events, emphasizing the need to prevent the country from sliding back into the eras of blockade, deprivation, and insecurity.

H.E. praised Iraq’s steadfast stance in confronting security and social challenges—beginning with the efforts of the supreme religious authority, followed by political and social leaders, and the great sacrifices made by the Iraqi people across all components. H.E. underscored the importance of preserving the nation’s hard-won achievements, urging, “#Dont_Waste_It.” H.E. noted that Iraq stands today at a decisive historical juncture, poised to transition from fragile to sustainable stability, through openness guided by the nation’s supreme interest.

H.E. also highlighted the pivotal role of investment in advancing economic development, creating job opportunities, and strengthening the country’s resources.

Furthermore, H.E. called for improving public services in Hoor Rajab and encouraged broad, active, and informed participation in the upcoming elections, affirming that previous experiences have proven the potential to advance development projects through the efforts and commitment of members of parliament who adopt and advocate for such initiatives.
